A surreal prize

A piece of Paris is coming to Brisbane – Surrealism: The Poetry of Dreams is showing at GoMA and Vogue wants to take you there.

A breathtaking exhibition of Surrealist works from the Centre Pompidou in Paris is showing exclusively at Brisbane's Gallery of Modern Art until 2 October, 2011. With more than 180 works by 56 artists such as Salvador Dalí, René Clair, René Magritte, Joan Miró and Man Ray, the exhibition presents a historical overview of Surrealism, including paintings, sculptures, films, photographs, "Surrealist objects", drawings and collages. Don't miss this rare opportunity to see some of the finest Surrealist art, which rarely leaves Paris. Up Late returns to the Gallery of Modern Art every Friday night until 30 September, offering you a unique opportunity to enjoy the exhibition, including talks and music, after hours. Read on for your chance to win VIP tickets to this amazing event.
